Holly Taylor, 11609 S Hidden Circle, shared concerns about barking dogs and declining property value.

Ron Mortimer closed this item to public comment.

Steven Wrigley said he likes the concept but he's not sure if it fits a cul-de-sac neighborhood because of all the traffic.

Sarah Stringham said a category II allows for 24 trips.

Craig Kitterman said that as a commissioner they have a duty to protect the neighbors regardless of what the code says.

Danny Schoenfeld said the code allows for the day care.

Dave Bromley clarified the duties of the commission and that this conditional use can be revoked upon legitimate complaint.

Sariah Schmickrath said she's making efforts to being a respectful neighbor.

A motion was made by Daniel Schoenfeld, seconded by Dave Bromley to approve the category II Conditional Use Permit that did not pass due to not meeting the minimum requirement of four commissioners in agreement and further discussion was made.

Dave Bromley talked about the purpose of the conditional use permit.

Steven Wrigley said he also worries about snow removal in a cul-de-sac.

Sarah Stringham reviewed the conditions in the staff report and reminded commissioners that this item can be revoked upon legitimate complaint.

Craig Kitterman said he feels the neighbors concerns outweighs the code.

Dave Bromley said 98 trips was the total number of trips in the cul-de-sac and not from the daycare.

Craig Kitterman said that because it's a cul-de-sac you can't control how many people go in and out but you can control the number of commercial trips and this isn't the right place for the business.

Dave Bromley said the applicant could provide additional training relating to the traffic flow.

Mike Wilcox read a message from Sandy City Attorney, Darien Alcorn, who was attending remotely - A conditional use permit by state definition is an approved use where the impacts from that proposed use can be mitigated. The appropriate motion would be that if the impacts that are being generated by the use cannot be mitigated, those are grounds for a motion to deny a request. But if there are conditions that can be mitigated or impacts that can mitigated through conditions, whether those are already in the staff report or if there are additional ones that you think might help mitigate the concerns that you have or have been expressed by others, that would be the appropriate matter to address those rather than to deny unless you find and make a series of findings that the impacts cannot be in any way, shape or form, mitigated.

Craig Kitterman said the traffic count that we have now is with the current permit and an additional permit would double the count.

Dave Bromley said the applicant has been operating as a category II and didn't realize it.

Sarah Stringham clarified that the current trips wouldn't increase from what they currently are and that the applicant's intent is to come into compliance now.

Brittney Ward, Sandy City Engineer, said that on average a single family home has 11 trips per day so with the eight homes in this cul-de-sac you're looking at 90 trips per day generated from regular home use which is consistent with what the neighbor had counted. With the daycare of 12 kids being dropped off by one vehicle you're looking at 48 additional trips the daycare is generating.

Craig Kitterman said the neighbors have the right to go in and out in whatever manner they do because they're the homeowners and they have that right but the daycare doesn't have the right to exceed those.

Daniel Schoenfeld said the applicant has the right to continue those trips with up to eight trips per day and reminded the commissioners that they cannot deny this request.

Craig Kitterman said that the applicant is not in compliance now with the current number of children.

Sarah Stringham reminded the commissioners that the applicant did share, during her presentation, that she didn't realize she was out of compliance and has since then decreased the number of kids in her daycare to eight so that she's in compliance with operating as a category I.

Steven Wrigley asked if they have the ability to limit the amount of kids that can go into the backyard at one time to mitigate the noise.

Mike Wilcox said that they'll need to impose certain conditions that they find would make it equivalent to a permitted use. So having children playing in a backyard is an anticipated noise factor that's already part of a neighborhood and there is no cap or limit on the amount of kids one single family can have.

Steven Wrigley said the neighbors are saying the noise level is very loud with eight kids, to have 16 would be louder and asked if they could limit it to eight at one time to mitigate the noise. He also suggested a condition to have the children exit and enter on the right side of the vehicle.

Sarah Stringham said that was part of the traffic plan that she will be educating the parents with.

Mike Wilcox suggested that they could add that no reverse and backward movements be allowed to help mitigate traffic concerns.

Darien Alcorn, Sandy City attorney, said that children being outside would not exceed the existing noise ordinance and the traffic plan is a good mitigation.

Steven Wrigley asked about mitigating safety in the cul-de-sac.

Darien Alcorn said that she didn't think there was a way to propose that a public road be used differently than what it is - a public road.

Mike Wilcox asked Darien Alcorn if they could impose further maximums or limit the total number of children and if that would be an allowable condition given what the code allows for.

Craig Kitterman said the permit that the applicant currently has would limit that.

Darien Alcorn replied that Sandy City code already authorizes the category II home occupation as a conditional use and a conditional use is a permitted use subject to conditions that address reasonably and anticipated detrimental impacts.

Mike Wilcox clarified that they couldn't further limit that.

Darien Alcorn said no.

A motion was made by Daniel Schoenfeld, seconded by Dave Bromley, that the Planning Commission approve a Conditional Use Permit for a category II home occupation for day care use for the property located at 11617 S Hidden Circle based on the one finding and subject to the five conditions detailed in the staff report with a modification to add the following to Condition #2: That a traffic plan be developed with staff and notifications to clients to comply with the traffic plan including no backing up.
