Subject: General Plan Amendment – Pace of Progress: Sandy General Plan 2050 GPA08282024-006830
Updating the City’s Parks Master Plan

Public Hearing Notice: This item has been noticed to affected entities, on public websites, and at public locations.

Request

The Community Development Department is presenting a draft document (Pace of Progress: Sandy General Plan 2050) to the Planning Commission to consider making a recommendation to the City Council regarding a comprehensive update to the City’s General Plan, adding five station area plans and six neighborhood activity center small area plans, and all other associated documents as listed in the appendix of the draft document.

Background

In 2022, Sandy City published a notice of intent, as required by Utah Code (Section 10-9a-403), to prepare a comprehensive update to Sandy City’s General Plan. While many associated sections of the General Plan have been regularly updated, portions of the current document date back to 1979.

The City was awarded a Transportation and Land Use Connection Grant in 2021 by Wasatch Front Regional Council (WFRC) to be used towards the project to update the General Plan. With additional funding budgeted by the City Council, Sandy City sought proposals consultant proposals in 2022. The scope of work included preparation of five station area plans and small area plans for six of the City’s older commercial areas. The City received proposals from five consultants. Sandy City selected a consultant team led by GSBS. Due to the grant from WFRC, the parties to the consultant agreement were GSBS and WFRC, with Sandy City preparing the scope of work. Additional consultants that we involved in the process include Fehr & Peers, Catalyst Commercial, Bowen Collins & Associates, Y2 Analytics.

The project kick-off occurred in the fall of 2022. A project website (<https://sandypaceofprogress.org/>) was created and a communication campaign was carried-out to notify and inform the public. The project website has been updated multiple times throughout the process. Since that time, the project team has conducted extensive research, analysis, and community engagement. Several committees were formed to help guide the process, including a steering committee, primary technical committee, and various subcommittees. To date, over 120 meetings have been held. Those include workshops, open houses, tabling events at City activities, and meetings with the Mayor, Administration, City Council, Planning Commission, committees, regional partners, various stakeholders (groups and individuals). Surveys were conducted and comments received through the website. The City also hired Y2 Analytics to conduct three statistically valid surveys.

A draft of the Pace of Progress: Sandy General Plan 2050 document was made public on August 29, 2024. A hybrid (virtual and in-person) townhall event was also held on August 29th to introduce the document to the public. Utah Code requires that the Planning Commission hold a public hearing and “make and recommend to the legislative body a proposed general plan for the area within the municipality.” (Section 10-9a-403) The “legislative body (City Council) may adopt, reject, or make any revisions to the proposed general plan or amendment that the legislative body considers appropriate.” (Section 10-9a-404) The project team presented the draft document to the Planning Commission over two meetings (September 7 and October 3), prior to being formally presented to the Planning Commission in a public hearing on October 17th for consideration of a recommendation to the City Council. The project team is currently scheduled to present the draft document to the City Council on October 22nd, November 12th and 19th, and December 10th before bringing the draft document forward for a decision regarding approval on December 17th.

The draft Pace of Progress: Sandy General Plan 2050 document is a comprehensive update to the City’s current general plan. It includes goals, objectives, policies, and other tools intended to help guide future growth and development of the City in a manner consistent with community needs and values. The draft appendix to the document includes new and existing documents that are considered relevant and, in some cases, required components associated with the General Plan. New documents listed in the draft appendix include raw data from survey results, five station area plans, and six neighborhood activity center small area plans. Existing documents also listed in the draft appendix are typically master plans (Transportation, Water Conservation, Active Transportation, etc.) and small area plans (The Cairns Master Plan, Historic Sandy Neighborhood Plan, etc.). The document is organized into the following sections and chapters:

- Section 1: Overview
 - Executive Summary
 - Introduction
 - Background
 - Framework
 - Key Strategies
 - Community Engagement
- Section 2: Livability
 - Neighborhoods & Housing
 - Moderate Income Housing
- Section 3: Community

- Section 4: Mobility

- Section 5: Economic Development
 - Economic Stability
- Section 6: Environmental Stewardship

Facts and Findings

- Utah Code requires that municipalities “prepare and adopt a comprehensive, long-range plan for: (a) present and future needs of the municipality; and (b) growth and development of all or any part of the land within the municipality.” (Section 10-9a-401) Utah Code stipulates certain things that shall be included in a general plan and certain things that may be included, however it also states that it may include “any other element the municipality considers appropriate.” (10-9a-403(3)(g))
- The State Legislature has made significant changes over the past few years to Utah Code as it pertains to general plan requirements. Some requirements may not be completely addressed or addressed at all in Sandy City’s current General Plan. More recent Utah Code changes affecting general plans include requirements, and subsequent amendments, addressing moderate income housing, station area plans, and water preservation.
- Sandy City has regularly updated various elements and other documents associated with the City’s General Plan. However, some sections of the current City’s current General Plan have not been updated since 1979. A comprehensive update, such as the current project, has not been done since that time.
- The proposed draft of the document has been prepared based on extensive research, analysis, and public engagement.
- The Pace of Progress: Sandy General Plan 2050 document is intended to be a comprehensive update to the Sandy City General Plan, complying with Utah Code requirements and providing tools to help guide decisions regarding future growth and development in the City.

2. Revisions to language regarding historic preservation goals, objectives, and policies, and the addition of recommended actions, according to Exhibit “E”.

(See Exhibit “G” for the proposed Appendix Table of Contents)
5. Other substantive changes as identified in Exhibit “H”.
6. Other non-substantive changes as identified in Exhibit “I”.
